Two lines. One idea.

Every cover works the same way: a short hook in the site's serif - first line upright, second line italic - one line of capitals underneath, and the handle at the foot. Warm, centred, readable at grid size.

02 · TYPE

125 years.
One staircase.

Fraunces 300 - the hook. Upright then italic, same colour. Tracking -0.03em, line height 0.98. Big and light: reels 146–172px, feed 110–150px.

INSTALL MORNING AT THE THEATRE.

DM Sans 600 - the one line under the hook. Uppercase, 34px on a 1080 canvas, eight words at most.

@RIVERFOX_EVENTS

DM Sans 500 - the handle at the foot. Uppercase, tracking 0.2em, 22px. Nothing else goes down there.

03 · COVER RULES

01 Two short lines, eight words in total. Line one sets it up, line two in italic lands it.

02 Put the hook where the photo is quiet. Top, middle or lower third. Always centred left to right.

03 White on footage, ink on pink. One text colour per cover. No coloured words, no boxes.

04 Use a still from the reel itself. Laura or the install, warm light. Pink ground only when there is no footage.

05 Keep text inside the middle 1080 × 1440. The profile grid crops the top and bottom 240px.

06 Laura says "I". No exclamation marks. Name the actual thing - the staircase, the palette, the door.

07 Feed posts keep 96px clear on every edge. Text and the handle both. Reels keep the sides at 64px.

08 The last line always has two words or more. No widows. Join the last two words with a no-break space.

09 Buttons sit at least 44px below the line above. Nothing sits closer to a button than that.

04 · FOUR REPEATABLE SERIES

The reveal
The finished room or doorway, just before guests arrive.

Install morning
Behind the scenes - the van, the build, the last adjustments.

The brief
How I design it - palette, scale, sightlines. Type on pink.

Ask Laura
Laura to camera, answering one question people really ask.
